

WHAT HAPPENED

By Dr Lidiya Angelova

"I EXPERIENCED COVID-19 PANDEMIC IN THE FORMER EASTERN BLOC AND IN THE WEST.
THIS BOOK MAY HELP SOME OF YOU RETHINK WHAT ACTUALLY HAPPENED AND WHAT IS HAPPENING."

About the Author

Dr Lidiya Angelova is from Sofia, Bulgaria. She was born in August 1975 and comes from a family who resisted the communist rule. It made her resilient to propaganda and government nonsense.

As a youth she was interested in science and journalism, but decided to pursue a career in science since unlike journalism it is unbiased. Despite graduating from a technical school of chemical technologies she chose biology, because it is more challenging than chemistry. She never regretted it. Biology made her know and respect Nature.

Lidiya has a Masters degree in Biology with a major in Hydrobiology and Wastewater Treatment. Her doctoral degree in Microbiology was obtained while working on a development of a potential anti-influenza treatment. She is familiar with clinical research and worked at the famous NIAID (The National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases) in Rockville, USA or better known as the Fauci's institute. Lidiya lived in many countries and often forgets where she has been. She is a normal person who likes normal things such as cats and coffee. She isn't interested in viruses nor wants to be known for knowing them. Her passion is bacteria and archaeans, and their abilities to help us clean up the environment and create sustainable energy sources. It unfortunately needs to wait for better times. Her current efforts are focused on bringing back unbiased science to the limelight. You can find her on twitter (until banned) by the handle @angelovalidiya (backup account @genuineprospec1), Telegram Genuineprospect and Facebook <https://www.facebook.com/Genuineprospect>. You probably know her blog <https://genuineprospect.com/blog/> where she shares her knowledge about COVID-19 pandemic and the world. “What Happened” is her second book. The first one “Her name nas Believe” about her best friend who died from cancer was briefly published on Amazon. She withdrew it since she thinks that Amazon isn’t a place for publishing books due the fact that the company is destroying the small bookstores and the small businesses which are the souls of every community. Lidiya hopes that one day she will have time and money to help more animals and people in need. If you like what she does, send her a message. She would be happy to hear from you.

EARTH

WE ARE LOCKED BECAUSE OF A VIRUS FROM CHINA.

UNTIL WHEN AND WHY?

EVERYBODY SEEMS OKAY.

NO COLLAPSING PEOPLE ON THE STREET.

WHAT HAPPENED?

I KNEW THAT SOMETHING WAS WRONG AND THAT WASN'T THE VIRUS.

I KNEW THAT WE WERE EXPERIENCING SOMETHING WHICH HAPPENED BEFORE!

Probably nobody paid attention to the news at the end of 2019 about a new flu in China. There was no reason for it. Respiratory diseases are normal for the Northern Hemisphere during this time of the year. There were videos of people collapsing on the streets but nobody seemed concerned. 2020 started as normal. There was more news about the new flu in China but the world leaders didn't show any concern. Trump was the only one who reacted by suggesting to ban chinese entering the United States of America. He was called a racist and his suggestion unthinkable.

The news about what's happening in China took up more and more of the newstime. The new flu wasn't flu apparently but something else. It was a new virus yet everybody was traveling to and from China like normal. At the end of January the World Health Organization made an announcement that there is nothing to worry about. Shortly after it they changed the tune. The new virus was apparently deadly. Despite the fact that nobody was dying or getting sick from it outside China the World Health Organization said that we are in a pandemic. The city where the potentially deadly plague started - Wuhan, China was closed to the world. People who lived there couldn't go to work and shop. They were imprisoned in their homes. Days after it almost the whole world did the same.

One day everything was normal; next, we became a new world. Everything except supermarkets and pharmacies was closed. No school, no kindergarten, no visiting doctor if not an emergency. Concerts, sports events, galleries and museums were closed. Kids couldn't play at the playgrounds. No waking in the park. No recreation.

Borders were closed and only essential traveling allowed. We were told that it is to protect us from the virus. Since unlike spanish flu, chinese flu was racist the virus got a name SARS-CoV-2 or novel coronavirus or simply corona.

The news about the new virus became more intense. In fact there was barely any other news. There were only numbers of the people who eventually died after getting tested or after just being diagnosed with the new disease - COVID-19. There weren't any other respiratory diseases despite being in the middle of flu and cold season. If someone had cold-like symptoms were isolated or if getting sick taken to hospital. Most of the people who went to the hospitals never came back alive. There was no evidence about how this disease was different from flu and common cold. It was one of the things I noticed first. How do doctors know if it is the new disease when symptoms are the same? I clearly remember that the first two fatalities of COVID-19 in Bulgaria tested positive for influenza. Why were they counted as victims of the new diseases when they actually had a very well known one - flu, which apparently has the same clinical presentation?

As more people were tested as more considered COVID-19. There was the introduction of masks for which the idea came from China and for which there was no evidence that could stop the virus. World was following China without making any other evaluations or considering any alternatives.

Life became numbers of COVID-19 tested (which were called infected) and dead. Kids learned that playing with other kids is bad because they may kill their grandparents. In many countries young people couldn't visit old people. People in care homes were completely isolated from the world. Visits were banned even by close family members. Same with the hospitals. Old and young cancer patients were dying alone in the cold humanless hospital rooms. There was the introduction of social distancing. Handshaking, hugging and kissing became an offence which could end up with jail time. It was recommended to go out only if essential.

When the locking of the Earth happened I was in Bulgaria where I am from but don't live permanently. It was supposedly a short visit which became much longer and made my family separated in two different countries not knowing when we would see each other. Maybe most of you know it but I would like to remind you that Bulgaria is a former communist country. It all reminded me of that time when the government was protecting us from the big bad West. We couldn't go there because it was dangerous for us. Their songs, their movies and their books were so bad that we needed to be protected from them. Of course the communist elites would be able to visit this monstrous world and to be exposed to its culture. They apparently were resistant to it unlike us - the plebs. COVID-19 pandemic evoked those memories since it looked like the olden communist times where we lived in fear of an invisible danger. Fear fueled by the government and for which there was no other evidence. Media was providing us only with government approved information. Families were separated. People who would break rules were punished. The rules were bizarre but that wouldn't matter.

As time went it seemed that it would be like it forever. I was afraid that my daughter would never see her father again since almost all flights were canceled.

Traveling was extremely expensive and people who would come from abroad needed to be isolated for 14 days even when healthy. Every day I was hoping that the numbers would go down and my family would be reunited. My little daughter was asking me when she would see her daddy and I did not have an answer. I would say: "Hope soon."

The government stated that locking would be temporary until hospitals are protected from overflowing with patients. In the beginning it sounded reasonable but something bugging me; something was off! "On what basis is all of it? Where is the evidence? Nobody is collapsing on the street". When the lockdown started there was a flu vacation for the children actually because of the flu epidemic. How did we know it was this when it was based on vague new tests? And yet again symptoms were the same. Doctors were treating but likely killing patients because of something which they claimed had no idea what it is. Nobody was actually considering the fact that after the viral infection which most of the people can handle without any medications comes bacterial infection which apparently can be deadly. Many people were comparing it with the spanish flu times but in 2020 unlike in 1918 we had a wide range of antibiotics. There was nothing about treatment from the government and media. There was news about a shortage for the well known bulgarian common cold medicine Analgin-Quinine but nothing else. Doctors seem to have forgotten basic medicine and acted like they were following an oath but not the hippocratic one.

Media was continuing with the propanada and outside news would be only the same: numbers of tested positive and dead. People in Bulgaria seem to have not taken everything seriously and as in the communism times would break the rules while hoping that if police come they would be bribed by a bottle of rakija (strong homemade alcoholic drink) or the policeman would be someone they know so wouldn't report the law breakers. People would gather even outside but were staying a bit further from each other. Jokes like: "Police are coming so hide the drinks!" became quite popular. Life in Bulgaria looked normal if you don't watch TV and don't visit stores.

When the summer came we finally had good news. The lockdowns have ended. My daughter would be with her father again. We said "Good Bye" to Bulgaria and we went back to Germany where he works. Despite being a summer and the supposed end of the pandemic it actually didn't. Masks were still mandatory, and the media and the government continued with fearmongering. The bad west, I meant the virus would attack us at any moment! We need to be vigilant! What was even more bizarre - it was absolutely the same in the actual West. Since I follow what's happening in the english speaking world, the situation seemed the same everywhere. Like the world became a communist state but the "bad West" now was a virus.

Initially I was believing that the World Health Organization at least would do something and maybe was waiting for more data. I even tried to help with my knowledge of influenza virus which was the topic of my PhD work. As a science communicator I followed all developments and informed everyone by my LinkedIn blog. After I heard about brainstorming crowd challenge about solving the COVID-19 puzzle and sent my suggestions which would lead to clarifying what actually is the COVID-19 disease, to separate positive tests of healthy people from the actual sick (real cases), to consider already available drugs and the cross-immunity from the other viruses.

Unfortunately instead of following science, the World Health Organization started sounding like a propaganda fear machine. There was no evidence about the needs of masks or any restrictions. I became more and more critical on social media. My proposal which was read by World Health Organization representatives was rejected. Surprisingly to me one morning I found myself being checked on LinkedIn by the executive director of the World Health Organization's Health Emergencies Programme - Dr Mike Ryan. When I mentioned it, people said that I should look around when crossing the street. Why, in case he is in this position to help people and I with my knowledge do the same? I wrote an article about the fact that WHO should be held accountable for rejecting science. It was widely shared on social media but that led to another unpleasant surprise - I couldn't access my LinkedIn account where was my article about WHO. Apparently someone from WHO reported me. LinkedIn didn't give me a warning and my appeal in which I showed facts that there is no reason for my work account to be deleted was rejected. So just like that all my work contacts and blog disappeared. Of course since I couldn't work there was no way to sue. I was jobless and in the radar of dangerous people which apparently are the ones working at WHO. They ignore science and cancel everyone who challenges it. Interestingly they even hired a PR company known for working with criminals. This is Hill+Knowlton Strategies involved in wars, human rights violations, poisoning people.

Of course they couldn't scare me. I was raised in communism by anti-communist family. Being oppressed and fighting for what's right is in my blood. I decided to make a blog on a common blog platform where I would continue to use my knowledge <https://genuineprospect.com/blog/>. Social media is a power so I used it too. I became a well known anti-COVID-19 propaganda expert. It made me connected with like-minded people. I actively participated in calling out the fraudulent PCR test study which is against all science principles.

Meanwhile life continued. Numbers of positive tests started increasing and out of nowhere Germany was locked again. I was about to experience a lockdown in the west. I immediately noticed that people were more obedient. They rarely questioned the government. About that time was the start of the COVID-19 vaccine propaganda. Like the first measures it wasn't based on any evidence since only time could tell if all experimental COVID-19 vaccines work. Clinical research is a slow process and takes years. It was urgently approved despite that there wasn't a need.

The increase in testing inflated the case and death rate numbers. In Germany as elsewhere everyone who tests positive for COVID-19 and dies is counted as COVID-19. That happens even after months or because of an alternative cause. The test which cannot tell if someone is sick was used to justify the measures. There was still no clear evidence separating COVID-19 from other diseases. There was more and more evidence that cross-immunity works. A scientific study of 10 million people proved that the advertised asymptomatic spread is nonsense. Yet, people believed that they are endangered and want a vaccine. They would give you a dead stare if your nose is a bit over the mask. There was an introduction of medical masks and wearing masks in some outdoor public spaces. Christmas markets were canceled. Instead of questioning it or not giving a toss about it like in Bulgaria, Germans seemed to like it and strictly followed the rules. They would even report to police people who dare to break the rules. "Rules are rules and if the government says that we are in big danger, we must be!" I was wondering if I kind of jumped into a parallel universe since I was experiencing communism but in the West!!!! News from the rest of the world was the same. Media and governments were showering everyone with the same message: "Danger! Virus! Vaccines! Masks! Stay home! Don't come close to other humans, they are deadly! Vaccinate!" Communist propaganda is an excellent brainwashing tool because most of the westernst even after so many months aren't questioning it. They still believe that the exit from the pandemic is the vaccine, lockdowns and masks.They refuse to acknowledge the bizarreness of all of it. The fact that elites as back then the communist leaders don't follow the rules. They don't even hide it.

There were some protests of course but they led to nothing. Media didn't show anything and if you aren't part of the resistance you would never know. That's why I am writing this. To try to open the eyes of the westerns. The only way to oppose is to not obey. Look at the tiny Bulgaria and the bulgarians. Doesn't matter how much money is involved in propaganda Bulgaria is last in inncolulation with experimental medical treatment. The death rate is low and even lower than in the vaccinated West. Seems that the experimental treatment is wiping out immunity. I expect a deadly, deadly cold season. People who are damaged and who die are the youngest and healthiest. The ones who rarely suffer from respiratory diseases. What happened and is happening is a crime. It must be stopped.

I am sure that maybe after reading it some would say: "I knew it!", but plenty wouldn't understand it. Plenty would still think that the government and WHO are thinking how to save them from the virus. Well, these people cannot be saved. They are already dead. We, the free thinkers, are the living ones. We aren't going to stop.

We are more than many think. We will work until we are back to the old human normal where being a human isn't a crime. We will do it. I guarantee!!!

END/КРАЙ

P.S.

There is another big danger coming for the world. People who speak against the narrative. Their science and evidence doesn't matter. What matters is the plan. We are all going to be a big communist family led by the ones who chose by themselves to be our leaders. No, I am not talking about the politicians but the people who bought them. We the free thinkers are "antivaxxers who want to kill your granny." I just read an article on Forbes calling us a small group of idiots. Being a medical doctor or having doctoral degrees in the field seem to mean nothing. As in the olden times you follow the communist party narrative or you are bad. Nothing has changed. History repeats again.

Acknowledgment

I would like to thank my family, friends and fellow free souls who help me every day to continue doing what I am good at - using the scientific knowledge for creating a kinder world; a world for the people, not for the corporations; a world of humans not AIs.

Love,

Lidiya
